

Syria, Libya oppose lifted embargo Oil readied for U.S.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Most of the Arab oil producers prepared today to load tankers for the United States following their decision to lift their five-month oil embargo.

Saudi Arabia, Algeria, Abu Dhabi, Bahrain, Egypt, Kuwait and Qatar agreed Monday to lift the ban on shipments to the United States that they imposed during the October Arab-Israeli war.

Their action was taken in recognition of Washington's efforts in getting Israel to withdraw from the Suez Canal and in hopes Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger would secure a similar Israeli withdrawal on the Syrian front.

Despite strong pressures to join in the majority decision and present a united Arab front, Libya and Syria refused to endorse resumption of exports to the U.S.

Libya shipped about 10 per cent of the 1.9 million barrels of Arab crude oil the United States imported daily before the embargo, and presumably it will still not resume these shipments. Syria's only oil weapon is the pipeline from Saudi Arabia to the Mediterranean, which crosses its territory, and it was expected to continue barring U.S.-bound tankers from loading at the pipeline's Syrian terminal.

Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said tanker shipments from the Persian Gulf should begin reaching U.S. ports in about two months. But he said Algerian oil, shipped from the Mediterranean, will arrive much sooner.

Yamani said Saudi Arabia would ship at least a million barrels a day to the United States, and Kuwait, Algeria and other countries would send additional amounts. But no total figure was available.

The end of the embargo virtually ruled out gasoline rationing in the United States this summer, but oil supplies were expected to stay tight enough to require continued conservation measures. U.S. oil companies warned customers to expect continued shortages and high prices even after Arab oil begins reaching America again.

The oil ministers said in their communique that the ban would be lifted for at least two months and they would review their action at another conference June 1 in Cairo. Yamani stressed that only an unforeseen change in Washington's Middle East policy would cause them to put the embargo back on.

While rewarding the United States, the Arab minister retained their embargo on shipments to the Netherlands and Denmark. They said the two countries remain hostile to the Arab cause.

Oil shipments to West Germany and Italy, however, were returned to full prewar volume. Exports to the two countries had been cut by 15 per cent because of their alleged pro-Israeli sympathies.

Production cuts for Japan, Britain, France and other West European countries had already been restored.

Rate hike request revives talk of city-operated water system

The Ohio Water Service Co.'s efforts to boost the cost of service here by approximately 48 per cent may create an example of history repeating itself.

City Council Chairman John E. Rhoads said today that if the Ohio Public Utilities Commission should grant the water company an increase of that size he would advocate "immediate condemnation" procedures as a preliminary to eventual transfer of the investor-owned utility to municipal ownership.

A similar effort followed a rate increase in 1961, but voters defeated the proposal by a 207-vote margin in a November referendum that year. An earlier campaign for public ownership of the utility was nipped by the voters in 1937.

The Ohio Water Service Co. move for a new rate increase surfaced at a Council meeting last week when objections were voiced to the utility's suggestion that an earlier "informal session" of Council, at which the rate hike was first broached, be followed by another "informal session" to further consider the matter.

Council members have given no formal answer to the Water Company's rate request, and it now appears that the utility may take its case directly to the Public Utilities Commission rather than making any further overtures to Council.

RHOADS INDICATED after the regular Council session last Wednesday that any further talks with the Water Company would be conducted in an open meeting at which citizens would be privileged to hear the presentation.

He expressed an opinion that, particularly in view of costly improvements mandated for the city's sewage treatment system, citizens of Washington C.H. cannot afford a major raise in water rates.

Figures offered by Water Company officials at the "informal session" listed Washington C.H. operating revenues for the year ending Dec. 31 as $367,381, operating expenses as $296,097 and operating income as $71,284.

Under the proposed increase, operating revenues would increase by $177,000 to a total of $544,381; expenses by $83,142 to a total of $379,239, with a resultant income increase of $93,858, bringing the actual income figure to $165,142. This, the Struthers-based company said, would bring the return on its $4,069,966 local investment from 1.75 per cent to 4.06 per cent.

News cameraman rams car with 3 bandits, hostages

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A news cameraman says he acted out of "sheer anger" when he rammed his car into another car carrying three bank robbers and two hostages.

His action halted a chase which ended in death for one of the three gunmen Monday. Two policemen were injured in the incident.

Bill Anderson, 27, of WHBQ-TV, who was filming the pursuit of the robbers, said he was enraged when he saw the getaway vehicle run down a policeman dashing across a department store parking lot.

"I saw him hit that police officer and knock him 15 feet and I just lost control," said Anderson. "I ducked down and floored it and rammed their car...and I stayed ducked down while the shooting was going on."

Police said one of the gunmen, Clyde M. Hyde Jr., 43, Shreveport, La., killed himself with a shot in the chest when officers encircled the getaway car. The other robbers released two women hostages and surrendered. A third hostage had been released earlier to tell police to stop the chase, authorities said.

The officer hit by the getaway car, Benjamin Payne, 28, suffered a broken back and was hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Police earlier had trapped the robbers inside a suburban branch of Union Planters National Bank after the holdup men scooped up $49,778. But police kept their distance when the trio emerged with the hostages, all bank employees, and drove off in a car commandeered from another bank employee.

Petroleum supplies to stay tight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gasoline rationing was virtually ruled out for this summer by Monday's announced ending of the Arab oil embargo against the United States.

But petroleum supplies may stay tight enough to require continued fuel-conservation measures.

Both conclusions have been cited by energy officials as the likely results of an end to the embargo, although the Federal Energy Office declined immediate comment after the actual announcement.

Whether the nuisance of long gasoline-station lines is gone for good, however, depends on just how tight the summer supplies remain.

And that depends on a variety of things: gasoline demand, at the high prices now in effect; actual crude oil import levels; the availability of imported gasoline as the embargo lifts itself further in Europe, and policy decisions on the use of existing gasoline inventories and the late-summer shift of refinery production toward other fuels.

John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office, said last week that an end to the embargo would lift the threat of gasoline rationing, for it would provide some assurance that fuel shortages over the next several months would at least get no worse and probably would improve.

But Sawhill also warned that the nation would have to continue its efforts to conserve energy.

The reason is that U.S. demand for gasoline and other petroleum products has been rising steadily. And the Arab nations appeared unwilling to increase their production levels higher than existed before the embargo, while U.S. domestic production has stagnated.

So there seems to be little prospect that total U.S. petroleum supply can expand much beyond last year's levels. Any chance for economic growth — at least if it depends on petroleum — will therefore require fuel conservation to provide some growth margin.

The Federal Energy Office has measured fuel shortages against estimates of what demand would be if there were no shortage.

Saudi Arabia's oil minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said Monday the Arabs would provide the United States with as much oil as it got last September.

That provides one measure of future shortages.

Ohio lawmakers eye probate court reform

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Probate court reform, the state lottery, and the energy problem faced Ohio's lawmakers today as they began a three-week push to recess for a month April 4.

The House scheduled a floor vote on a major bill to simplify state probate court procedures. Sponsors hope the bill will reduce the cost of handling estates and speed their processing.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney's Ways and Means Committee planned a hearing on a bill to cancel Lottery Commission plans to locate its headquarters in Cleveland. The bill would make Columbus the site.

Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said his committee also will hold confirmation hearings on Gov. John J. Gilligan's five appointees to the commission.

They are Chairman David Leahy of Cleveland, Bernice MacKenzie of Canton, Louis Goldman of Dayton, Richard Rust of Cincinnati, and Mary Yates of Cleveland.

Maloney indicated members of the commission may be questioned about their decisions so far, and perhaps about claims by some lawmakers that the group is moving too slow.

Maloney also is chairman of the House-Senate subcommittee which plans to hear tonight from Michael Scanlon, director of intergovernmental relations for the Federal Energy Office.

The Cincinnati lawmaker said he wants the federal official to brief the subcommittee on federal policies and regulations before final drafting of state energy legislation begins.

Before the joint panel is a proposal to create a state energy board with limited powers, which could, in effect, call the lawmakers into special session if it felt energy problems had become critical.

Maloney said he hopes to have a bill ready within two weeks.

Legislators plan to recess from April 4 to May 8, to campaign for re-election in the May 7 primary.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKER—Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy state auditor, stresses a point during his address to more than 300 Democrats at the annual Jackson Day dinner held Monday night in the Terrace Lounge. Ferguson, a state auditor candidate, spoke of a crackdown in illegal welfare payments and a hotline telephone service which has been established to aid taxpayers in the state auditor's office.

Democrat dinner draws 300 persons

An enthusiastic crowd of Democrats, perhaps the largest turnout of the party's backers in Fayette County's history, attended the annual Jackson Day dinner held Monday night at the Terrace Lounge.

The crowd nearly 300 filled every available seat in the downtown restaurant for the fund-raising event, sponsored by the Fayette County Democrat Club.

Featured speaker was Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy state auditor, and the large gathering also heard a number of statewide and local candidates, but the tone for the banquet was established by State Rep. Myrl Shoemaker.

The often witty Shoemaker, who is unopposed in the May primary for another term in the 88th House District, stressed that 1974 will be "a Democratic year." The state representative said, "the Watergate scandal won't win the election for us, but it will help. The Republicans have fumbled the ball and we'll have to pick it up and run with it," he said.

Shoemaker's remarks were echoed by many of the speakers during dinner, which also featured an announcement concerning the U.S. 35 bypass opening. Bernard Hurst, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Transportation, said the bypass is scheduled to be opened with a customary ribbon-cutting ceremony at 11 a.m. March 26 near the Ohio 753-S portion of the $6 million project. He will act as master of ceremonies.

FERGUSON, unopposed in the May primary in a bid for the state auditor post, spoke on welfare fraud cases being halted by the auditor's office and of "hotline" telephone service established recently in the auditor's office.

The deputy state auditor, who was introduced by Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, of Washington C.H., a candidate for a seat in the 77th Ohio House of Representatives, said "welfare is like the world politician these days. Watergate has given a bad name to politicians, but just a few are responsible, and a few cheaters on welfare have given the system a bad name," Ferguson said.

"It's not only the welfare recipients, but also professional people too," he said. Ferguson cited an example of a Cincinnati physician who billed the state for a hysterectomy he performed and a year later billed the state for a birth for the same woman. The state recovered $75,000 from the fraud attempt.

He also said the state auditor's office has stopped $3 million worth of non-legitimate welfare payments. He mentioned a Cuyahoga County woman who was found to be receiving 10 welfare checks under 10 different names and another woman who was receiving welfare payments and unemployment compensation but held a job.

Oil situation afraid consumers might expect quick results from the embargo's end.

Oil companies and industry leaders welcomed the news, and said it will have a positive impact on areas short of energy.

But they also said some shortages and high prices will remain even after oil from the Middle East begins flowing to U.S. consumers for the first time since last fall's Arab-Israeli war. They said it would take two to three months for that to happen.

The oil companies said there would be increased gasoline supplies for the summer months and predicted that long gasoline lines should continue to subside both as a result of increased supplies and a hope for return of consumer confidence.

Spokesmen for two oil companies said persons worried that there might not be enough gasoline for a vacation this summer could generally go ahead and plan on one. But they warned that conservation measures must continue in the use of energy.

"The lifting of the embargo is good news," said the Shell Oil Co. "But it is no sign the nation can revert to historical energy consumption patterns and uses."

"One point should be made very clear to the American public," said Standard Oil of California. "The lifting of the embargo does not mean a return to business as usual. And even if production levels were restored, the U.S. would still be in short supply."

The statements by the oil companies emphasized these points:

—Oil affected by the embargo accounted for between 10 and 14 per cent of U.S. use. It was considered unlikely that the Arab producers would exceed previous supply levels to this country, which was running short of oil even before the embargo.

—The current high prices of gasoline and other petroleum products are the result of a quadrupling in prices charged by other foreign producers, and an increase in domestic oil prices. Since the Arabs charge basically the same price as other foreign producers, there is little evidence that prices will fall. In fact, prices may go up.

—It will take between 60 and 90 days for Arab crude oil to be loaded on tankers, shipped to refineries for production into gasoline and other products and then moved to U.S. consumers.

DeMOLAY WEEK PROJECT — Four members of the Fayette County DeMolay Chapter receive some tips from Mrs. Martha Reiff, of the Downtown Business Association, concerning the operation of the association's street cleaning machine. The DeMolay chapter members laun-

Driver hurt in roll-over

An 18-year-old Jeffersonville youth was brought to Fayette Memorial Hospital Monday night and was treated and released for injuries sustained in a traffic accident, the Sheriff's Department reports.

Barth Allen Faulkner received a lacerated right eyebrow in an accident on Ohio Rt. 41, a tenth of a mile south of Wildwood Road, at 10:45 p.m.

The car he was driving left the right side of the road and skidded 300 feet before it slid broadside 75 feet, struck a fence owned by Thurman Plummer, 3789 Ohio Rt. 41, and then turned over several times over another 75-foot area.

Faulkner was brought to the hospital by Deputy Sheriff Charles W. Wise, who was dispatched to the scene.

The car Faulkner was driving was demolished, and he was charged with reckless operation.

A car owned by Dora F. Mick, 830 Sycamore St., rolled across Jamison Road where it was parked and into a support post for a carport next to a trailer owned by Madge F. Crooks, Jamison Rd.

Sheriff's deputies reported the incident at 10 p.m. Monday.

Rose Mary Woods appears at Mitchell-Stans trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidential secretary Rose Mary Woods has testified for the government at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

At one point she sounded like a character witness for the defense.

"Can you identify Mr. Mitchell?" Miss Woods was asked Monday as she underwent cross examination.

"I can identify him as a very fine man," she replied with a smile in the direction of Mitchell, at one of the two defense tables.

"Are you acquainted with Mr. Stans?" was the next question.

"I certainly am — another fine man," said Miss Woods, again with a warm smile.

Miss Woods was followed on the witness stand by Robert Higgins,

A federal proposal to abandon unprofitable railway track in 17 states came under heavy criticism from businessmen, politicians and community leaders during a week-long series of hearings.

Although the Department of Transportation plan would affect only about 4 per cent of the freight shipments in the northeastern quarter of the nation, critics say they fear economic ruin for rural industry heavily dependent on the railroads.

If the forecasts of witnesses at hearings in several cities last week come true, thousands of workers will lose their jobs and industry generating hundreds of millions of dollars in revenue will be forced to shut down.

From Edinburg, Ind., to Forks Township, Pa., to Cattaraugus in western New York, opponents turned out to fight against the rail reorganization plan. The plan is aimed, in part, at salvaging seven financially troubled railroads, including the Penn Central.

There are 61,184 miles of track in the Midwest and Northeast, and the Department of Transportation (DOT) says 15,575 miles are excess. It says the excess track carries only about four per cent of the freight volume.

Under the Regional Rail Reorganization Act of 1973, a nonprofit U.S. Railway Association is charged with preparing the reorganization plan, subject to congressional review.

Modifications based on information from the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings will be introduced into the DOT plan, and another round of hearings is scheduled before a final draft is presented to Congress.

The plan envisions creation of a Consolidated Rail Corp. to acquire railroad properties and equipment and operate rail service in the 17 states, with massive governmental financial assistance.

In Chicago last week, a steady stream of witnesses told the ICC in a session that spanned five days and one evening that the results of such abandonment would be disastrous.

The pattern was repeated in Indianapolis, Ind.; Columbus, Ohio; St. Louis; Baltimore; Albany, N.Y.; Philadelphia; and other cities in the Midwest and Northeast.

He said the service has handled more than 24,000 calls since it was established and received a total of 125 calls Monday.

Speaking in behalf of statewide candidates were Frank Ryan for Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan, Rep. Shoemaker for lieutenant governor hopeful Richard F. Celeste, Robert Hudson for incumbent Attorney General William J. Brown, Dixie Bradford for State Treasurer Gertrude Donahey and Kenneth Pormeele for secretary of state candidate Tony Hall.

Lynn Glenn Powers, daughter of former astronaut John H. Glenn, in the absence of her father, and Dennis Teivenon represented Sen. Howard E. Metzbaum. Both Glenn and Metzbaum are seeking a U.S. Senate seat.

Appearing for the dinner were James W. Brown, William M. O'Neill and A. William Sweeney, all lieutenant governor candidates; Dennis E. Thompson and Beverly Ann Bingle, secretary of state hopefuls, and Judge Robert L. McBride and Horace W. Baggett, both seeking a seat on the Second District Court Appeals. Baggett's mother, the former Mabel Chaffin, was born in Washington C.H.

Local candidates included Mrs. Louise M. Rodgers, incumbent Sixth District committeewoman seeking reelection against Martha Purcell and Lois Hancock, and Sixth District committeemen candidates Ralph Phillips and Ed Bunstine.

Dumford, seeking the post being vacated by Joseph Hiestand, of Hillsboro, spoke to the group as well as Robert Mace, seeking a fourth term on the Fayette County Board of Commissioners, Grant McDonald, a 17th House District candidate, and Dr. Lloyd A. Wood, a Sixth Congressional district hopeful.

The event was emceed by Richard Kimmel, president of the Fayette County Democrat Club. Kimmel, and William G. Ward, club vice president, introduced the speakers. Mrs. Rodgers introduced a number of other guests including county precinct committeemen and employees from the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County, the Washington C.H. deputy registrar's office and the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services office here.

Mrs. Doris Bitzer delivered the invocation, and entertainment was provided by Bob Woodmansee, a Washington C.H. banjo player.

Stock list goes down

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market steadied today after a sharp drop in early trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 4.85 at 869.37, recovering from a decline of better than 7 points in the first hour. Losers led gainers by about 5 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said that with the Arab oil embargo ended, the market was turning its attention to such other concerns as inflation and the trend in interest rates.

"The chief actor today seems to be the recent increase in short-term interest rates, which I would regard as a temporary phenomenon," said Jack Trachtman at Steiner, Rouse & Co.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .59 to 100.36.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks was .28 lower at 52.22.

Money Does Matter . . .

By A.R. Bryant

BANKING IS A BUSINESS: TO MAKE MONEY AND HELP YOU, TOO!

Banks are in business to loan money. It's the only way a bank can earn the money it needs to pay salaries, costs of operating, etc.

There are many different kinds of loans which a "Full Service" Bank makes - personal, mortgage, farm, improvement, business, short-term, long-term, etc.

And, sometimes when a local merchant or manufacturer needs more money than we have at the moment, we borrow the money from other banks, and then loan it to our customers.

Just as a merchant buys a refrigerator for a lower price cost and then sells it for more money in order to pay his operating costs and make a small profit - so do we operate.

That is what our American free enterprise system is all about. Our product is money - our concern is for the economic soundness of the community in which we operate, and the well-being of our customers.

Federal controls apparently dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's attempt to retain partial wage and price controls after April 30 may be dead in the House, according to House Banking Chairman Wright Patman.

"Any hope for passage or even committee action appears to be dim, if not dead," the Texas Democrat told the House Monday.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., the ranking Republican on the committee, declined to introduce the administration's bill.

In the Senate, three members of the Banking stabilization subcommittee have agreed on a compromise bill that would extend controls temporarily and establish a mechanism by which controls may be reimposed only if criteria establishing "serious inflation" are established.

At the First National Bank of Washington Court House we are deeply concerned about each customer, be he a merchant or a neighbor - and that concern is with him as an "individual." It's the only way we know in which we can be truly of complete service!

Bizarre threat by group foiled

By HENRY HEILBRUNN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three Wooster residents charged with extortion after allegedly demanding free radio time with a threat to kill a mysterious hostage formed a nonprofit public service corporation last month, The Associated Press learned today.

The Alternative Political Action Committee Inc., chartered by the state of Ohio Feb. 5 to be a "problem solving" organization, would "establish an economic institution that employs those unemployed... care for those unemployable and educate those uneducated."

Larry N. Cooper, 26, one of those arrested by FBI agents Saturday for allegedly telling New York City radio station WABC they would kill a hostage if they weren't permitted four hours on the air, was acting president and agent for the corporation.

Gwendolyn Y. McCutcheon, 21, and Carol Holmes, a 19-year-old Wooster College sophomore, signed as co-charterers.

The FBI arrested the three without resistance Saturday after agents surrounded their Wooster apartment. The trio telephoned the radio station several times Saturday to demand the broadcast of a taped statement, or they would take the life of a hostage and commit suicide, the FBI said.

Agents did not find a hostage, and still refuse to disclose if there was an intended victim.

Cooper and Miss McCutcheon chartered two other corporations Feb. 20 with Wooster resident Peter Rosemond providing the third partner, the state minimum to form a corporation.

The other firms, Project 76-An American Affair Inc. and Larry N. Cooper Inc., had similar purposes and by-laws.

"They have very idealistic motives. They are not in any sense violent-type people. They are talking about reforming society," said The Rev. J. Barrie Shepherd, a minister on campus.

He spoke with Miss McCutcheon after she was arrested. He said she asked him to explain their intentions.

"They believe the system can work for the poor by working through the system," The Rev. Mr. Shepherd said. "Their hostage was the U.S. Constitution in an abstract sense."

"She felt that if the people in this country were forced to commit suicide if things were so bad, this very fact would prove the constitution was in grave danger."

"They don't share a commitment to violent solutions. It's not in any sense talk of the typical radical stuff like the Symbionese Liberation Army."

The SLA claims to have kidnapped 20-year-old Patricia Hearst, a day before the three formed their first corporation. The SLA has demanded a free food distribution program for the poor in San Francisco as a step toward the release of the daughter of Randolph Hearst, a West Coast newspaper publisher.

Promise to astronaut son puts man in money pinch

WYOMING, Mich. (AP) — A promise to his son, one of three astronauts killed in a 1967 training mission, has brought Don Chaffee to the verge of financial ruin.

"Being the father of a national hero is not financially rewarding. Of course, I never thought it would be," Chaffee, 63, said. "But I've practically gone to the end of my line."

Roger Chaffee, 31, Virgil Grissom and Edward H. White II were killed Jan. 27, 1967, when fire raced through their Apollo capsule during a flight test. Ever since, the elder Chaffee has been on the stump promoting the nation's space program.

Chaffee says meeting the pledge to his son has placed him $75,000 in debt.

In 1966, as the Chaffees walked together along the shore at Cocoa Beach, Fla., the astronaut told his father, "If I buy the farm (die), I don't want you to be bitter. Do what you can to help the space program," Chaffee recalled in a recent interview.

"I'll promise you that," I said. But I sort of laughed it off." The former real estate agent says his son's death "was a terrible shock — but I remembered my promise."

So, Don Chaffee began appearances before school children, civic clubs — any group wanting to hear about his son and the space program. It has been a labor of love which has taken him to 11 states.

"I just let the business go to pot," he said of the real estate agency he founded some 20 years ago. The firm now functions only sporadically from a bedroom of Chaffee's small frame home in this Grand Rapids suburb.

As speaking engagements began draining his resources, Chaffee started drawing Social Security payments and tapping his wife's income as a bank employee to finance them.

Appeals for aid to every major foundation and several business firm drew letters of support but no money, he said.

Solzhenitsyn won't visit U.S. now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Author Alexander Solzhenitsyn says he cannot visit the United States at the present time because he must devote himself to his work.

The exiled Soviet writer refused "with great gratitude" an invitation from AFL-CIO President George Meany to visit and lecture in this country.

In a letter released Thursday, Solzhenitsyn said that "having been forcibly torn from my native soil I am compelled to spend now much spiritual and physical energy to recuperate and resume my work in a new place at my previous level and tempo."

Russians losers in Middle East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The story just unfolded on Arab oil and the Middle East must create frustration and even humiliation in Moscow.

Wilson leans toward U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has resolved to restore the old British-American partnership, if possible without loosening Britain's links to Europe or disturbing relations with the Arabs.

Big difficulties face the new Labor government in realizing the revised foreign policy program which Foreign Secretary James Callaghan unveils today in a House of Commons debate.

Wilson's two-week-old minority government won its first parliamentary test Monday when the 635-member House approved its legislative program 294-7. The Conservatives and Liberals abstained after the government announced it would retain the previous Conservative regime's wage controls until a voluntary policy can be worked out with the unions.

The government now is expected to have no trouble in Commons until after the budget is presented next week.

Callaghan in his foreign policy outline is expected to list three priority goals:

—Strengthening of British-American friendship, weakened while the Conservative government was adapting Britain to life as a member of the European Common Market.

—Negotiations for better terms of membership in the Common Market. Wilson contends that Britain puts more into the economy community than it gets out and has placated the French too much.

—An attempt to satisfy the Arab countries that the socialist Labor government will follow even-handed policies toward socialist-governed Israel and the Arabs.

lost, influence among the Arabs even though it armed Israel before and during the October war and stood behind her even in the face of the oil difficulties.

Moscow broadcasts long have been telling the Arabs the only way they could get what they wanted was to punish the United States as the protector of their enemy.

"Premature lifting of the oil embargo will enable the United States to undermine efforts to settle the Middle East crisis at some stage," said a typical broadcast.

Now, despite Arab anger over U.S. positions on Israel and all the Soviet encouragement in recent months to them to keep the lid on oil supplies for the United States, the producer nations have voted to lift that embargo.

The men in the Kremlin must be asking why the Arabs didn't heed them. After all, didn't the Soviet Union arm Egypt and Syria? Didn't the Soviet Union build the Aswan High Dam for Egypt after the Americans refused to? Didn't the Soviet Union back the Arabs in all they ask? Didn't the Soviet Union all along espouse Arab aspirations?

Moscow indeed did all those things, and that is precisely why the Arabs are suspicious. The Arabs are nationalistic and devoutly Islamic. They are fearful of what they have seen of Soviet sentiments in those spheres.

If there is to be peace, the Arabs know the United States still holds the key. If there is to be economic development in the Arab world, the keys are in the West, not the East.

The Russians sound a lot less like a regime bent on detente than one hoping to keep the waters roiled in the most sensitive strategic area of the world. Yet people who should know credit Moscow with wanting to avoid a major explosion, even while trying for all it can get short of that.

Moscow seems to have some political problems in this respect. Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Communist chief, wants detente and all it promises. But that costs a lot in terms of surrendering opportunities to be more disruptive in the Middle East.

There have been signs lately that Soviet hawks question the long-range prospective benefits of detente. This seems to be echoed in recent Soviet press articles that for the first time in a long time are sharply critical of the Nixon Administration and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

The reason: the Russians don't want a settlement to take place that has the look of being all the result of U.S. diplomacy.

Board questions power site pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board will ask Atty. Gen. William J. Brown to determine if awarding a state contract to a member of the Power Siting Commission violates Ohio's ethics law.

The board Monday deferred action on granting a $120,000 consulting contract without competitive bidding to L. S. Preston and Associates.

Preston, highway director in the administration of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, has already done about $65,000 of work for the Transportation Research Center near Bellefontaine.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, bought up the possible conflict and Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, suggested an opinion from Brown as well as the Ethics Commission.

Action on the request to hire Preston was deferred at least two weeks. Preston is chief officer of the firm bearing his name.

The Power Siting Commission on which he sits is a state agency that polices the expansion of power facilities throughout the state. He is paid $5,000 a year for his services.

The board agreed to pay $193,550 for 161.88 acres of land in Warren County as part of the Little Miami Scenic River project. But Maloney questioned why the price was 12 times the appraised value of the farm, owned by Corwin J. Fred's South Lebanon Compost Co.

A Department of Natural Resources spokesman said he understood Fred wanted to sell all of the land at the same time, and the price was considered cheaper than costs of taking it by condemnation.

In other action, the board approved: —$185,750 for a shore protection project at Crane State Park in Lucas County.

—$9.5 million to the Ohio Water Development Authority for sewage treatment facilities in Medina County.

—$81,290 to the Environmental Protection Agency to enter into a contract without competitive bidding for development and evaluation of a compliance schedule for the iron and steel industry.

—$64.6 million to the Ohio Department of Education for the school foundation subsidy for March, a routine release made monthly.

—$432,846 to the Department of Education for the state's share of reimbursement for the purchase of 113 school buses.

—$12 million to the Department of Education for vocational education in Columbus and $12.5 million for vocational education in Toledo.

—$1 million to the Administrative Services Department to buy, without competitive bidding, bond, mimeograph, ledger and recycled papers. The costs is for two years, but the contract can be renewed at the end of the year.

—$534,000 to the University of Cincinnati and $150,000 to Miami University for a joint computer center to be located on the UC campus.

—$164,000 to Wright State University for planning funds for their medical college.

Harsha pulls no punches

Congressman William H. Harsha, who represents this Sixth district in Washington, has his dander up over the so-called "oil crisis."

In his column which appeared in The Record-Herald Thursday he pulled no punches in his criticism of the Federal Energy Office which he points out "always has been quick to respond to the needs of the oil industry with practically any price raise it requests."

Congressman Harsha pointedly voices some views which some of us have held for a long time, especially with regard to "these higher energy costs at a time when oil companies are chalking up record profits."

He observes that "the only policy which they (the FEO) seem to be able to formulate is that what's good for Big Oil is good for America". And he closes his column (which we advise you to read if you haven't already done so) with the observation that unless the consumer is given some relief or due consideration, the powers that be will find out too late that what is bad for the consumer is also bad for the country.

We must confess that, in the past, we have shared the opinion of some of the congressman's critics that he was too cozy a bedfellow with an Administration which has been oriented toward the big and the powerful rather than toward plain John Public.

But Rep. Harsha's forthright comments on the oil crisis would seem to put him on the side of those who feel that the Founding Fathers had other things in mind than Freedom for Exploitation when they shaped this democracy.

Cheers for Congressman Harsha and his willingness to "tell it as it is". We hope he has strong support in the legislative chambers at the Nation's Capital.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Conspiracy rap a monstrosity

I doubt if Cambridge, Mass., and other centers of libertarian thought are about to be flooded with bumper stickers reading: "Free the Watergate 7."

Yet the fact is that the central charge against the seven men indicted by the Watergate grand jury is that they conspired to cover up the burglary of the Democratic headquarters. (In addition, four of them face specific criminal charges such as perjury.)

Lord knows, there is a delicious irony about seeing former Attorney General John Mitchell, and Robert Mardian, former head of the Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice, in the dock, impaled by the weapon they so vigorously employed against the "Chicago 7," the Harrisburg group and other alleged subversives.

Like most human beings, I enjoy the paradox — the great "law-and-order" pontiffs hoist by their own petard. But this pleasure is a luxury item for civil libertarians, at least those whom I consider to be genuine civil libertarians; men and women who do not vary their constitutional views depending upon whose ox is gored.

The stark fact is that if conspiracy was a bum rap for the brothers Berrigan, Abbie Hoffman, Dr. Spock, et al., it is a bum rap for Messrs. Mitchell, Mardian, Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Colson, Strachan and Parkinson.

WITH APOLOGIES to those who recall my earlier columns on the Chicago and Harrisburg trials, let me recapitulate the case against conspiracy indictments. A conspirator is not accused of having committed a direct crime (such as perjury, obstruction of justice or incitement to violence). He is not even indicted for being an accessory to a crime: for misprison of a felony. (Misprison, an archaic term, has suddenly popped up in discussion of impeachment. It means, in this context, having foreknowledge of a crime and not reporting it to the authorities.)

Conspiracy is the lazy prosecutor's favorite legal ploy. In layman's language, it means that the government can't prove a specific offense but is convinced the accused was involved somehow in the operation.

Thus, instead of having to demonstrate beyond a reasonable doubt that seven men or women individually committed one full offense, the prosecution wraps them up in a package and goes after seven convictions, each for one-seventh of an offense.

The best definition I have seen was laid down by the U.S. Court of Appeals, 9th Circuit: "A conspiracy may be a continuing one; actors may drop out, others drop in; the details of the operation may change from time to time; the members need not know each other or the part played by others; a member need not know all the details of the plan or the operations; he must however know the purpose (and agree) to become a party to a plan to effectuate that purpose." In addition, the rules of evidence in conspiracy cases are more lenient than in other categories, particularly with respect to hearsay.

This is about as wide a fishnet as one could invent. Suppose, for example, I went to lunch with Attorney General Mitchell in the fall of 1972 and found him preoccupied. "What's the matter, General," I asked. "I'm trying to figure out how we can handle that damn Watergate mess," he replied. Not realizing that I might be an "actor dropping in," I closed the discussion. "Good luck — it's a real stinker."

ADMITTEDLY, I have exaggerated a bit for effect, but the question remains: Did I join the "conspiracy" by learning that Mitchell wanted to "handle" the Watergate mess? And, by saying, "Good luck," become "a party to a plan to effectuate that purpose"?

In the Harrisburg prosecution, one of those indicted had merely been present at what sounded like a slightly stoned festival, where other participants allegedly planned to kidnap Henry Kissinger and commit other esoteric offenses against the government of the United States.

The "Watergate 7," in short, are entitled, to at least as much justice as the various characters Mitchell and Mardian spent their time pursuing.

If one has allegedly committed perjury, he should be tried for perjury. If another has allegedly obstructed justice, he should be tried for that offense. If a third allegedly knew of the burglary in advance, he should be tried as an accessory before the fact to burglary.

These are concrete criminal offenses. But send that conspiracy rap off to the museum of common law monstrosities. That is where the law of conspiracy rightly belongs.

Court eyes film cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court agreed Monday to hear cases from Ohio and Alabama challenging the rights of local authorities to close adult movie theaters.

In Ohio, Allen County Prosecutor Lawrence S. Huffman had obtained a state court order to padlock the Cinema I theater in Lima as a public nuisance. But a three-judge federal court panel in Toledo said the state law under which the order was granted violated the constitution.

Huffman appealed, saying the federal court exceeded its authority. In the meantime, the theater changed hands and stopped showing X-rated films.

In the Alabama case, a federal court concluded that it lacked power to interfere for an adult theater in Birmingham when state authorities moved to padlock it as a public nuisance.

An unexpected hazard of the energy crisis struck a resident of Hampstead, a posh north London district, as he left a restaurant. He was knocked down by a hit-and-run roller skater.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

This is to supply you with some additional facts so that your readers may have a more complete understanding of the situation dealt with in the R-H of Thursday, March 14, relative to Judge Coffman's order for the removal of a house built by Calvin Hayward.

First, Mr. Hayward was notified by telephone and by registered letter before he had begun construction that such an action would violate the restrictions of his deed for the property. This was about Nov. 1, 1973, and at that time the lot had only been scalped and some building materials were on site. Mr. Hayward disregarded both warnings.

Second, the article did not mention the damage to the Rhoad cropland caused by the washing of denuded subsoil on to it.

Third, although the sale of Mr. Wright's house for more than its purchase price was mentioned, no statement was made as to the improvements he had made on the general increase in all property values.

Fourth, the court decision does not order Mr. Hayward to tear down his house. The order, as our suit requested, is to remove the house and restore the land to its original condition.

Fifth, no mention was made of the testimony of the other property owners in the development whose properties we attempted to protect by first making the restrictions and then by going to court to enforce them.

Since this issue affects many areas of the city and county, perhaps these added facts may clarify the situation. Thank You C.E. Rhoad

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She has bellyful of modern teaching

DEAR ABBY: Has the whole world gone crazy or is my viewer out of focus? I just read in a Minneapolis newspaper that as a part of the community educational program, the public schools are sponsoring a program on-of all things-belly dancing! As a taxpayer, I protest this shameful waste of money. Don't you think there are better places for our tax dollars than spending it to teach school girls how to do a vulgar, disgusting dance with their midsections exposed?

MRS. J.F.O. DEAR MRS. O: Your viewer is out of focus, lady. Belly dancing is a respected art form in the Middle East. However, it's your right to protest. So write to the mayor and tell him you've had a bellyful.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who received a beautiful stereo for Christmas. I keep it in my bedroom, which seems to create a problem.

My father says when my boyfriend comes over we should take the stereo from my room way out to the den and then drag it back when we are through.

I can't understand why we can't listen to the stereo in my bedroom if we keep the door open and all the lights on, a parent is home, and they can wander in and out whenever they want.

Also it seems ridiculous for them to be so uptight about our being in the bedroom because if we planned on doing anything it would be just as easy in the den.

How do you feel about this?

DEAR BUGGED: I think your parents are wrong. Furthermore, their accusatory attitude could give you ideas you never had.

DEAR ABBY: A "Concerned Parent from Augusta, Ga." recently wrote to complain about her school system's order that pupils have a tote bag of supplies before they could use the lavatories. Our elementary school felt forced to make its bathrooms vandal-proof because of the acts of a few disturbed children. Stall doors were removed because some children swung on them; all paper was removed because it was either being wasted or used to plug toilets; mirrors were taken out and hot water was shut off. Our students did not even have tote bags of supplies; they had to make do or wait until they got home.

This action was taken at the insistence of the janitors who tired of cleaning clogged pipes and fixing hinges on stall doors. After three years, the elementary student council pressed for and won restoration of all facilities. They argued that schools are for children not janitors; that children are human beings and have the right to basic dignities.

The council won its case. Since then there has been no abuse of the facilities. "Bathroom monitors" were never even considered because experience has shown that children should not be put in a position to police each other.

Wire thief sentenced to reformatory term

A Milledgeville man has been sentenced to a term in the Mansfield Reformatory after pleading guilty to a grand theft charge in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman sentenced Robert W. Hiser, 18, of Milledgeville, to term of one-half to one and a half years in prison after he admitted stealing more than $1,000 worth of copper telegraph wire.

Hiser was arrested March 3 by Fayette County Sheriff Donald Thompson and Sheriff's Sgt. John L. Emrick at his home.

The sheriff said the arrest came after a two-week investigation into the theft of copper wire from different sites along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co., tracks in Fayette County.

Thompson said 12,600 feet of copper wire, weighing 504 pounds, was recovered at a scrap yard in New Jasper in Greene County before the arrest was made.

He said the thieves had to climb telegraph poles to enable them to cut the wire.

The recovered cable had been rolled in 20-pound "packages."

Hiser had remained in custody in the Fayette County jail under $2,500 bond before sentencing.

Auto crash, shooting investigated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police still were trying today to sort out the details of a bizarre car-ramming incident on Interstate 75 which ended with one auto demolished and the driver of the other shot twice.

Police said James Burchett, 28, of Dayton, was treated at Grandview Hospital for bullet wounds in the neck and shoulder.

Donald Rosenberger of Flint, Mich., was not injured, but his wife Kathi, 26, and daughter, Shonda, 11 months, suffered abrasions when their car smashed into the rear of a truck.

The incident occurred Monday on a stretch of I-75 in downtown Dayton.

Police said a car began ramming the rear of the Rosenberger auto as it traveled northbound on the expressway, finally forcing it to smash into the back of a truck.

Rosenberger allegedly fired four shots through the left side window of Burchett's car as it started pulling away from the accident scene.

"This other guy (Rosenberger), in an effort to protect his family and property, apparently whipped out this gun and shot the guy," said a police officer at the scene.

Rosenberger reportedly was en route to his home in Michigan from Army duty in Georgia when the incident occurred.

Police said no charges were filed pending questioning today of all the people involved.

Street Streak costs woman $110

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP) — A 43-year-old female bar owner forfeited a $110 bond after being charged for streaking with two customers on a downtown street, authorities said.

Verna Kramer failed to appear in court. She and two New Richmond men had been charged with public indecency and disorderly conduct.

Fined $75 and ordered to pay $10 in costs apiece were Robert K. Snider, 24, and Ronda Erdman, 34. Indecency charges were dropped when they pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct.

$200 DONATED — President of the Paint Valley Kennel Club, Bob Schneider, has given a check for $100 from the club to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marchant, 712 N. North St., to help them operate the Fayette County Humane Society and a check for $100 to Pilot Dogs, Inc., in Columbus, which is involved in training seeing eye dogs like "Lady," who belongs to Janet Haines, 313 Florence Ave. Janet has been blind since birth. The cost to train a seeing eye dog is $1,800. Pictured left to right are: Mr. and Mrs. Marchant, Schneider, Janet and "Lady".

Ohio Perspective

Farm equipment short in state

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers with more dollars in their billfolds have been buying bigger and better tractors. The result is a shortage of agricultural equipment.

"When farmers received a long overdue increase in their share of the national income in the past year or two, they began investing in machinery faster than we could produce," said Thomas J. McDowell, national marketing director for John Deere and Co.

"It's serious," said William M. Davidson, executive director of the Ohio Association of Farm and Power Equipment Retailers. "The orders dealers are taking now are for 1975."

Davidson said the latest available figures show that 1973 sales of tractors have surpassed 1972.

He said 7,538 farm tractors were sold in Ohio during the first 11 months of 1973, compared to 5,877 for the same period in 1972. The models cost from $3,500 to $22,000.

But Davidson noted, "Farmers are most definitely going to bigger size tractors. They have bigger farms and want bigger equipment to get more work done in less time."

However, he said, "The industry couldn't anticipate the need for equipment. In 1972, there was equipment all over the place. Now that he has money to buy the machinery. It's being sold and the industry can't keep up."

Davidson said a farmer shopping for a new tractor "very seldom finds one on the lot like he used to."

Russell, Findlay, assistant manager of Grove City Farmers Exchange, said, "I don't have any large farm tractors. The farmers' economy has changed a lot and they're buying everything they can."

Findlay said, "The factory keeps telling us there is a shortage of materials."

Davidson and other farm equipment officials said the shortage has been complicated by a lack of steel to produce the tractors and various attachments.

"There's a problem with anything built with steel," said Davidson.

If the equipment is not available, he said, farmers will use their present machinery and "run longer hours. You will see them work 16 hours a day or even around the clock. But they'll get the job done."

Davidson does not see the shortage slackening off for some time. "I think you're going to see a high demand

Fayette County receives 'local government' money

Fayette County has received $12,500 in the monthly distribution of local government fund money.

State auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's office announced the March distribution was the largest in the state's history with $6,908,594.38 going to Ohio's 88 counties and 327 cities and villages having local income taxes for February.

The March distribution was $2,881,350.94 more than the February distribution and $281,765.49 more than the March distribution in 1973, according to Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy auditor.

So far in 1974, Ferguson observed, the counties, cities and villages having income taxes received a total of $14,338,343.20 in local government fund money. The money is derived monthly by taking 3.5 per cent of state collections of personal, corporation and sales taxes during the preceding month.

Ferguson added that the March distribution is usually the largest due to the great influx of corporation taxes in that month. This year, corporation tax returns were due Jan. 31.

THE USE of the percentage factor causes the amount available monthly to the local governmental units to fluctuate, Ferguson said.

He said the state in February (the month used for the March distribution) collected $94,872,654.07 in corporation taxes, $67,816,057.02 in sales taxes and $34,700,690.45 in personal income taxes.

For March, most of the amount of money ($6,332,909.96) was distributed on a formula basis to the 88 county local government funds, a fraction ($575,684.42) was divided and sent to the cities and villages collecting local income taxes.

The March share of the local government fund money due six villages and two cities ($34.67) was withheld in favor of lump-sum payments to these municipalities at the end of 1974. Currently, there are 335 cities and villages in Ohio levying local income taxes.

March distributions to surrounding counties were Clinton, $12,500; Greene, $50,717.03; Highland, $12,500; Pickaway, $12,500, and Ross, $26,564.97.

Sometime in the summer of 1982 DP&L customers will need

3.6 million kilowatts of electricity

(double last summer's peak demand)

We've got to be ready!

It is DP&L's responsibility to supply all the electricity our customers need, at any particular time, on any day of the year. We've been doing that for a long time. We expect to do so in the future. But the job is getting bigger all the time.

Peak demands for electric power have more than doubled in the last eight years. Even with increased public concern for efficient use of energy resources, our customers will continue to need electricity, year after year. To meet your needs, in the next five years alone, we plan to spend $773 million for additional electric generation, transmission and distribution facilities.

Nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars! Where will the money come from?

About 25% of it will come from internally generated funds. The remainder will have to be financed with outside sources, in competition with other companies.

Interest and dividends paid for the use of this money are an important cost in the company's operations. Eventually, these and other rising costs must result in bigger electric bills. There is no other way to meet our responsibility for reliable electric service to our customers.

Jail modernization project under way

ESCAPE? — A worker dismantles a jail cell, believed to be one of the oldest in Ohio, at the Washington C.H. Police Department in preparing for the $32,000 jail revitalization project.

A jail cell, believed to be one of the oldest in Ohio, has been removed from the Washington C.H. Police Department in preparation for city jail renovation project.

Workers from the city Street Department dismantled and removed the ancient cage-type cell which was installed in the late 1800s when the S. Fayette Street building was erected. Approval has been received for the $32,000 in improvements to the city's holding facility.

A report was submitted to the state two years ago describing needed jail improvements, and state and federal funds were requested to boost the project. An action grant of more than $20,000 was awarded to the city and City Council followed suit by approving $12,863 as its share of the project cost.

The federal portion of the grant for the revitalization of the jail facility is $16,531. The state will add $3,697, according to information received by Police Chief Rodman Scott from the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

THE NEW JAIL cellblock will be located in the rear of the existing building where the city auditor's office was situated before the city offices were moved to the new Willis Insurance Co. building, just a block north of the present police headquarters.

Bids for the different phases of the construction have been awarded, and Scott said installation of the new jail cells will begin within 60 days.

The renovation will permit police to house as many as 10 male prisoners comfortably, doubling present accommodations.

The city leaned toward renovating its old facilities because it would be more economical and convenient. The Municipal Court here declared two years ago the present jail was inadequate, unsanitary and insecure.

There are no facilities for prisoners to bathe or no way police can separate violent or felony prisoners.

KEEPING the jail within the city building is convenient because the Municipal Court operates on the second floor and economical because the city will not have to pay for lodging its prisoners in the Fayette County jail or stand the high cost of a completely new facility, according to Scott.

The city will continue its contracts with the county to house juveniles and with the city of Columbus to confine women prisoners in its workhouse.

The jail addition will provide four two-bunk cells and a secured prisoner exercise and booking area, plus shower facilities.

A closed circuit television system, which already has been purchased by City Council with federal funds, will be installed in the new cellblock area.

The area formerly occupied by the old-fashioned cage cell is being remodeled for a storage area by Police Specialist William Robinson and workers from the city Street Department, Scott said.

Robinson served as foreman for a remodeling project about nine months ago.

THE CITY provided $8,000 for material and furnishings to remodel

NEW CELLBLOCK AREA — Police Specialist Larry Hott is pictured in the area where new cells will be constructed under the city jail renovation project. The new holding facilities will be located in the rear of the present Police Department building where the city administration offices formerly were located.

the old administration offices so the department could expand. Five police officers, under Robinson's direction, volunteered off-duty time and knowledge to renovate a wing of the building. The project saved possibly as much as $10,000.

Metzenbaum wants Butz out of office

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz lacks the ability to understand the American farmer and called for the secretary's resignation.

Ohio's junior senator made his remarks at a news conference Monday.

Metzenbaum said that last August Butz said that food prices would rise only 5 per cent this year and now the Agriculture Department is projecting a 12.5 per cent increase.

He also called for the regulation of export licensing to guard against excessive exports that reduce supplies in the United States. He said food prices in the U.S. are rising because of increased exports.

The senator said that he will have an Economic Preparedness Act ready to present to Congress in the next several weeks. He said the act hopefully would enable the economy to foresee a crisis, such as the energy shortage, so that action can be taken "before economic disaster results."

Metzenbaum said that 218,000 Ohioans are looking for jobs and cited that as "an indication of the falseness and fakery that overwhelms the people of the United States."

Metzenbaum said his wife, Shirley, and two of his daughters would act as watchdogs of the Ohio situation.

Mrs. Metzenbaum said she would travel over the state talking to people and keep an eye on things, such as health care costs, food prices and the petroleum situation.

Metzenbaum is involved in a Democratic primary race for the Senate with former astronaut John Glenn.

The Southern Steel Co., San Antonio, Tex., will be handling the construction of the new cells and their related equipment. A bid of $17,310 has been accepted by Council.

Associated Plumbers, of Washington C.H., was the lowest bidder for plumbing, heating and ventilation of the new cellblock area. The bid was $3,093.

A bid of $1,375 submitted by Ardit Mosaic-tile and Marble Co., of Columbus, was accepted for more than 600 feet of new terrazzo flooring. The old asphalt tile had to be removed to meet state requirements.

BIDS from four firms were accepted for 12 individual items of booking and related filing equipment. The total project cost for the booking and filing equipment is $3,150. Patton's and Watson's Office Supplies, both of Washington C.H., were two of the low bidders. Others were the American Locker Co., and Sirchie Laboratories.

The cage-type cell which was removed by workers recently was similar to one taken from the building a number of years ago to be used as a bear cage at the Maple Grove health resort, formerly located near Frankfort, according to B.E. Kelley, curator of the Fayette County Museum.

Kelley said V.J. Dahl, former Washington C.H. mayor, was in charge of the health resort and when the hotel-type business was closed the cell cage was returned to the city. However, the cage was damaged while it was being unloaded and had to be scrapped.

Long lines for gasoline disappear

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN

Associated Press Writer

Where did all those gasoline lines go?

At the end of February, motorists in many communities found themselves waiting in agonizingly long gas station lines. In some sections of the country, especially in the Northeast, lines were hours long.

The country seemed on the verge of coupon gasoline rationing. Indeed, many of the hardhit states initiated odd-even rationing plans on their own. Then came March. Poof! The lines disappeared.

The gas-short states seemed to go from gasoline famine to a relative gasoline feast in a matter of days. Stations began opening on Sunday and weekend traffic picked up.

The average motorist, confronted with long lines one day and no lines the next, was puzzled by the quick return to a semblance of normal gasoline availability. Critics started saying that the oil companies had been holding back gasoline until the price went high enough to suit them.

There are a number of reasons cited by oil industry spokesmen, federal energy officials and industry observers for the turnaround. But the reason cited more often than any other is the federal decision to make additional gasoline available from company stocks at the end of February.

The Federal Energy Office released 11.2 million barrels on top of the regular monthly allotment. The idea was to ease lines which the FEO said were partially caused by panic buying.

Some observers saw the move as an FEO attempt to buy enough time to straighten out its fuel allocation system. The system is designed to equalize supplies of gasoline nationwide, but the FEO itself admits the system wasn't working well in February.

Susie's remains go up in smoke

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The remains of Susie the gorilla have gone up in smoke.

The skeleton of the popular animal was destroyed Sunday in a laboratory fire at the University of Cincinnati.

Susie came to America aboard the Graf Zeppelin in 1929.

Often pictured wearing a Cincinnati Reds baseball cap or fitted in football regalia, Susie died in 1947 at age 21.

Her skeleton was donated to the college and made a "first class specimen," for teaching introductory biology, according to Dr. William Dreyer, professor of zoology.

City board accepts Rea's resignation

After nearly a decade as elementary coordinator in the city's elementary education program, Hugh M. Rea has resigned the post.

Rea, who was appointed to the position in 1964, recently submitted his resignation to Superintendent, Edwin M. Nestor, and the Board of Education approved Rea's request Monday.

In doing so, the board expressed its deep regret at the decision and its gratitude for his many years of service. The resignation is effective at the end of the school year.

A native of Good Hope, Rea is a graduate of Ohio State and Wittenberg universities. He had taught for seven years and spent four years in the Navy before joining the city school system as principal of Rose Avenue School in 1951. He remained there until becoming principal of Belle Aire School in 1958, prior to his appointment to his present post in 1964.

Rea, who lives at 132 E. Paint St., with his wife, Dixie, and son, Mark, said that his future plans are not yet definite. A bit of relaxation seems in order for the immediate future, he indicated. Mrs. Rea teaches at Belle Aire School, and the Reas have twin sons, Robert and Bill. Robert is a junior at Ohio State University, and Bill currently is serving in the Navy.

Rain, hail mark U.S. weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms, triggered by cold air spreading over the central part of the nation, rumbled across Arkansas today following a night of rains, a tornado and large hail.

A tornado was sighted north of Van Buren, Ark., and hail covered the ground north of Fort Smith. No injuries were reported.

Showers diminished from eastern Missouri into the Ohio Valley but remained vigorous over northern Ohio, turning to snow in Lower Michigan. Rain and snow were scattered through the northern and central Rockies, and travel and livestock warnings were posted for parts of Colorado and Montana.

Two inches of snow whitened Saginaw, Mich.; Denver, Colo., and Laramie, Wyo., before dawn. An inch of snow was common at places in Montana, Wyoming and Lower Michigan.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 6 at International Falls, Minn., to 74 at Brownsville, Tex.

Earth Society chief seeks miracle

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a visionary glint in John McConnell's eyes as he describes his mission. He hopes for nothing less than to change the world. Inside his attache case is a reminder: "Expect a miracle."

Many people won't agree with McConnell on the nature of the change needed. What is good to him might be unpalatable to others, including many businessmen.

Son of an evangelist, former seaman, businessman and publisher, McConnell at age 59 is president of the Earth Society and founder of Earth Day, to be celebrated on the first days of spring, March 20 and 21.

He explains that Earth Day "is set aside to remind each person of his right, and the equal right of every other person, to the use of this global home, and at the same time the equal responsibility of each person to preserve it ..."

Fuel oil stored at closed stations

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Fuel oil is being stored in underground tanks at closed-down gasoline stations in what officials say is a legal and practical move.

A Hamilton Journal-News survey showed that at least 15 stations that no longer are in business in the Hamilton-Fairfield area are renting for $25 to $50 a month for storage purposes.

The Federal Energy Office in Columbus and the Internal Revenue Service in Cincinnati said the storage is legal.

One trucking firm occasionally delivers the fuel to the abandoned station is F. J. Egner & Son Inc. of Hamilton. Egner is a subsidiary of Coast Tank Lines Inc. of Akron.

A Coast spokesman said the practice is common and is done by the customer purchasing the fuel. He said there are several reasons for the storage.

—When a gasoline station closes its empty underground storage tanks can float up through the ground unless anchored.

If the tank is anchored by filling it with water it can rust, the spokesman said.

"If they're ever going to use that station again they might store fuel oil for use by another station. This gives the other station a greater storage capacity and keeps the tank anchored and usable," he said.

—If a municipality needs storage space, "the most obvious place to rent would be closed service stations," the spokesman said.

The fuel oil coming to Hamilton for storage could be coming from 20 different states serviced by Coast and its subsidiaries, he said.

One major oil company executive who asked not to be identified was quoted by the FEO and IRS as saying Journal-News the fuel oil being stored at his station was for a "big local industrial company."

Several truck drivers bringing fuel oil in told the Journal News they came from the Toledo-Akron area.

Robert Spiro of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio in Columbus said there has been no fuel oil supply problem in Ohio. Local fire officials said the stored oil underground presented no fire hazard.

he was storing fuel oil for some of his industrial customers.

One former station owner now renting his underground tanks told the

Put more boxcars hauling fertilizer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroads are putting more boxcars to work hauling fertilizer but not as many as Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has said he requested from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC said Monday it ordered 11 railroads each to divert 100 covered hopper cars into traffic on the Seaboard Coast Line by April 1 to move fertilizer from Florida into farming areas.

Although industry officials and farm representatives were heartened by the news, the action fell far short of a request Butz said on March 13 he had

Modified plan eyed by teachers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Federation of Teachers (CFT) meets tonight to discuss modifications made Monday by the Cincinnati Board of Education in a faculty racial balance plan.

Roger Stephens, CFT president, indicated the changes made the controversial policy more acceptable.

Both the CFT and the Cincinnati Teachers Association (CTA), recognized bargaining agent with the board, have opposed the racial quota system adopted by the newly-elected board.

The modifications closely match the proposals made and approved by 120 CTA representatives in a three-hour session Sunday.

spread to include observances by the United Nations, governmental agencies, states, cities, villages.

"On our crowded planet, oil, minerals and land are not only property, but limited natural resources," McConnell said. "It is imperative that their use conform to environmental standards, and distributed equitably."

With this in mind, McConnell wrote to Saudi Arabia's petroleum minister, suggesting that 50 per cent of oil royalties be given to help the earth and its "disinherited people."

Ten per cent of this, he suggested, should go to organizations feeding and housing the hungry and homeless. Another 10 per cent would be for specific environmental programs to enrich the earth's natural resources.

The larger portion, 30 per cent, would be distributed equally and directly to all adults in any poor area of any community of the world that would provide appreciate distribution of funds.

Differences arise over tech college

Differences of opinion have cropped up concerning a proposed five-county technical college district for Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette and Highland counties.

The proposed district would have two campuses. One would be near Macon in Brown County, now the site of the Tri-County Academic Center operated by the University of Cincinnati.

The other would be at the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School campus, located on the former Clinton County Air Force Base property, near Wilmington.

The Macon Campus would offer the same kind of programs presently offered at the Tri-County Academic Center, and technical training would be emphasized at the Laurel Oaks campus.

L.C. Miller, director of the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School at Wilmington, said that the Ohio Board of Regents, the control unit for higher education in the state, recently adopted a resolution supporting plans for a two-year general and technical college for the five-county area.

Miller said the district would be governed by a board of trustees composed of residents from all five counties. This plan for a locally-controlled college district "would allow programs of higher education to be developed by local advisory groups sensitive to local needs," Miller said.

THE SCHOOL would be chartered by the Ohio Board of Regents, the same organization that charters other state-supported schools such as Ohio State University, Miami University, the University of Cincinnati, Ohio University and the Scioto Technical College.

"This proposed college district would be, to a large degree, the realization of community college district that was proposed for the Adams, Brown and Highland county area a few years ago," Miller said.

He said the district would be supported by state funds and tuition fees. There would be no additional levies for the area.

Meanwhile, Harry Malott, Democratic state representative from Mount Orab, has voiced initial opposition to the proposal. He feels control of the Tri-County Academic Center should be continued by the University of Cincinnati. With this in mind, Malott has called a public forum to be held at Eastern High School in Brown County at 7 p.m. March 28.

Malott has invited various officials, including members of the Ohio Board of Regents and staff members, as well as area educational leaders and private citizens to the session to air their views on the proposal.

Vacation plans killed by breakdown

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A group of 124 area college students saw their plans for spending spring vacation in Florida dashed by mechanical breakdowns.

Dante Sou's Student Transportation Services had organized the trip, but was forced to cancel it Saturday because of bus troubles.

The trip, costing $125 to Orlando, had been scheduled to depart Friday.

But students were informed that buses from Megacity Transit Lines of Dayton could not arrive until Saturday due to repairs.

After a five-hour wait Saturday, students were told that two of the buses broke down en route and a third was never dispatched.

David White of the bus lines said he would refund the $6,000 advance his firm was paid by Sou.

But the general manager of the motel in Ormand Beach, Fla., where the students were to stay, said he would not make any refund since he had held the rooms three months in advance.

Sou declined comment until talking with attorneys.

The show has been scheduled for Friday, April 19, in the Washington Junior High School auditorium. Application blanks have been distributed to both high schools.

Debi Frazier, a Miami Trace High School senior, spoke to Kiwanians on the various ways the school's National Honor Society raises money for scholarships. She said the primary fund-raising project is when the students take over the operation of Frisch's Restaurant for one day.

She said "Scholarship Day" has been scheduled Saturday, March 30, and she appealed to the club members to attend. The club voted to donate $25 to National Honor Society's scholarship fund.

President George Gibbs read a letter from the Washington Cemetery board of trustees which accepted the club's offer to be responsible for the upkeep of the old Washington Cemetery, which is located between Penn Central railroad tracks and the Thompson Transfer Co.

Farm borrowing up sharply, FCA report for 1973 shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new financial report by the Farm Credit Administration shows farmers borrowed a record $23.6 billion last year from cooperatively owned institutions, up nearly 41 per cent from 1972.

The report, issued by E.A. Jaenke,

3rd brother stricken with cancer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Doctors are expected to decide today whether surgery can save the life of 13-year-old Stephen Southerland of Miami, the third of three brothers afflicted with cancer.

Given a 30 per cent chance of recovery, the youngster has developed the same disease which forced the recent amputation of the right leg of Edward Kennedy Jr., son of U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.

Sen. Kennedy's office called Stephen's parents at Children's Hospital Monday to offer encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Southerland were informed last month that Stephen had bone cancer of the left leg.

The Southerland's declined to speak with newsmen Monday as doctors examined their son.

Stephen's brother Jeffrey died five years ago of lymphatic leukemia at age four.

The day before Jeffrey died, the Southerland's were told their second son, Michael, 9, was suffering from a rare malignancy in the nerve lining. He has since undergone two operations and radiation treatment and has suffered no recurrence.

The Southerland's, in their mid-30s, had called Stephen "something special. He helped us get through all the crisis times."

Doctors have told the Southerland's that medical case books show no records of three children from the same family developing three different forms of cancer.

I have stepped out on a few limbs before in my life but this time the limb broke. It seems after my article appeared in the Record-Herald on March 6 titled, 1973-74 Lions pegged as history makers, in which I stated that this season's Blue Lions basketball team was the first team ever to advance to district competition, much discussion has ensued.

Flatly stated in my article was the phrase "for the first time since a Washington High School player donned a blue and white uniform and bounced a basketball on the hardwood the Lions are in a district cage tournament". Although my statement is somewhat correct it is also a misleading remark.

In that same article I made mention to the fact that the 1950-51 team had the distinction of holding the best post season record. The Lions of some 23 years ago were victorious in their first two outings but fell to Grandview in the third game of district play in Columbus. This, I found in my earlier research, was the best any WHS team had done in post season action.

Then last Wednesday, Lewis Elliott wrote a "Letter to the Editor" congratulating the 1973-74 Lions for the finest basketball season ever. WSHS finished the season with a smart 17-4 mark tying the best record ever by a Blue Lion team. Coach Gary Shaffer's boys also brought home a lone South Central Ohio League title to WSHS for the first time in 18 years.

Also mentioned in Elliott's letter was the fact that the "first Washington High School basketball team to reach a district semi-final was the 1940-41 team that lost to Columbus Aquinas in the Central District Class A (big schools then) tournament held at Ohio Wesleyan University." Elliott, a former tennis ace for WHS, informed us that the Lions won games over Westerville and Arlington before losing to Aquinas.

Since all of this discussion has followed my article, I decided to do just a bit more plunging into the record books. Low and behold, I found another Lion team that did better in post season action.

The Lions of 1922-23 advanced further in the tourney trail. Under the direction of Warren W. Vannorsdall the Blue Lions of 51 years ago made the coveted "Sweet Sixteen."

Following regular season play WHS entered tournament action with a 6-4 slate. The Lions defeated Chillicothe 24-19 and Portsmouth 18-14 to advance to the quarter finals of the state tournaments. Along with Washington C.H. went Nelsonville. The two teams were to represent the Southeast District in the state tournaments. Both teams had played at Ohio University and both were to go to the state. Washington C.H. and Nelsonville competed against each other at OU before going to the state championship games, for the sole purpose of deciding who would get the first place trophy and the runner-up trophy of the Southeast Sectional Nelsonville won 44-28.

With just 16 teams remaining in the state, Washington C.H. went against Columbus South. The Lions dropped a heartbreaker to South 14-10. Nelsonville made less of a showing bowing out to Bellevue 23-2.

Although the distinction between sectionals, districts, regionals and state finals are hard to define over the years, the 1922-23 team advanced the furthest.

The fact that remains clear though is that no team has ever won any more than two games before losing in the third outing.

Rangers, Twins suffer setbacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Rangers and Minnesota Twins suffered exhibition baseball defeats Monday, but the Rangers had a distinct musical touch while the Twins again were left singing the blues.

The Rangers used country and western singing star Charley Pride, a one-time minor leaguer, as their designated hitter in a 14-2 loss to the Baltimore Orioles.

The setback wasn't Pride's fault. He grounded out and singled off Jim Palmer, the American League's 1973 Cy Young Award winner.

Boo Powell and Don Baylor each delivered three hits and Mark Belanger's bases-loaded double highlighted a four-run Baltimore uprising in the second inning. Teenager David Clyde was tagged with the loss, surrendering four runs and seven hits in four innings.

The Twins suffered two losses. They bowed for the 11th time in 12 exhibition outings when the Los Angeles Dodgers smashed 18 hits in a 13-5 rout.

And they also lost slugger Harmon Killebrew for a while. The first baseman left the game with a partial shoulder dislocation after diving for a ball and landing on his right shoulder. Killebrew will have his arm in a sling for 10 days to two weeks.

Elsewhere on the casualty list, Manager Darrell Johnson of the Boston Red Sox reported that catcher Carlton Fisk will be hospitalized another few days because of a groin injury. Fisk was hit by a foul tip off the bat of Joe Torre in Sunday's game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

However, the Red Sox didn't seem to miss their All-Star catcher. They beat the Chicago White Sox 8-4 for their 10th victory in 12 games as rookie Jim Rice belted a three-run homer and Rico Petrocelli contributed three hits.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Mike Phillips, Ohio's alltime scholastic scoring champion, today was named The Associated Press Ohio Class AA Player of the Year for the second successive basketball season.

The 6-foot-11 Akron Manchester senior broke the Ohio scoring mark 11 days ago, formerly held by Jerry Lucas of Middletown. Phillips had 2,466 points heading into regional tournament play last week, six more than Lucas.

Bobby Dawson, who led Wellsville to an unbeaten regular season and the Class AA state poll title, was named the Ohio Coach of the Year for the division.

The selections were based on regular season performances only and were made on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Phillips probably is the most sought after college prospect in the state this year after making first team all-state for the last two years.

He averaged 35 points and 27 rebounds in 18 games this season. He scored 31 points and grabbed 24 rebounds a game as a junior, 27 points and 27 rebounds as a sophomore and 21 points and 18 rebounds as a freshman.

Phillips heads a high-scoring eight-man first team that also included 5-10 Olmsted Falls junior Greg Cobb. Cobb had the top average of 37.3 points in the state this season.

Other first team selections included 6-6 Randy Haefner of Cincinnati McNicholas, 25.6; 6-5 Garry Allison of Wellsville, 18.8; 6-10 Ron Hammye of Genoa, 18.1; 6-3 Tom Terry of Lima Catholic, 27.1; 6-2 Ed Tillman of Columbus Mohawk, 21.5, and 6-2 John Shoemaker of Waverly, 26.6.

Cobb was the lone junior chosen. The rest were seniors.

Second team members were 6-7 Kelly Shy of Portsmouth West, 6-5 Dave Short of Wauseon, 6-5 Bruce Yance of Tiltonsville Buckeye South, 6-4 Mike Cline of Millersburg West Holmes, 6-5 Frank Sanders of Dayton Stivers, 6-4 Dan Finn of Canton Lehman, 6-2 Kelly Montgomery of Hanoverton United and 6-3 Phil Blizard of Heath.

Third team choices were 6-2 John Coleman of Ashtabula Harbor, 6-foot Gerald Parks of Cleveland Benedictine, 6-1 Mark Kwiatkowski of Oregon Stritch, 6-5 Gil Price of Gallipolis, 6-3 Dan Pugh of Mason, 6-4 Ron Termeer of Dublin, 5-10 Mike Gilliland of Columbus Hartley and 6-3 Tim Steinhilber of Wynford.

Milwaukee Brewers have hopes

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP) — The real identity of the Milwaukee Brewers, on again and off again last season, may yet be a major surprise of the 1973 baseball season.

Dead last in the American League East the year before, the Brewers broke to an amazing start last season, at one point winning 15 of 16 games to take first place with a 34-27 record. But they were only 40-61 the rest of the year and settled to fifth place.

The second half record is deceptive, however, because the Brewers were only one game under .500 going into September, then fell to 8-21 in the final month.

"The season was satisfying until September," Manager Del Crandall said. "I don't like finishing on a down note. But we've got a lot of promising young players, and I'm awfully optimistic for 1974."

Much of Crandall's optimism stems from acquisition of two badly needed left-handed pitchers, Clyde Wright and Steve Barber, from the California Angels.

Wright, once a 20-game winner, says he is fully recovered from the back ailment he blames for his skid to an 11-19 record. If his former touch returns, Wright will team with Jim Colborn, a surprising 20-13, and improving Jim Slaton, 13-15, as a solid Big Three.

Other starters could be Tom Murphy, 3-7 at St. Louis, Bill Champion, 5-8, or Jerry Bell, 9-9, highly impressive when not beset by elbow problems which hampered him much of last year.

A key to the pitching staff is Bill Parsons, hoping a season of winter play has corrected whatever caused his plunge to a 3-6 record and 6.95 ERA last year.

Barber, a 20-game winner for Baltimore 11 years ago, is 35 but still effective in short relief. The Brewers are counting on him to anchor the bullpen along with 21-year-old Eduardo Rodriguez, 9-7 and with a 3.30 ERA since being called up from Evansville in June.

The Brewers' offense, led by first baseman George Scott and outfielder Dave May, combines power, potential and speed. Scott was second in the league in hitting at .306 and runs batted in with 107, while May was second in hits with 189 while showing a .303 average and 93 RBIs. May belted 25 home runs and Scott 24.

The Brewers expect continued improvement by a number of young players—especially catcher Darrell Porter, second baseman Pedro Garcia and outfielder Bob Coluccio.

Only 22, Porter hit .254 with 16 home runs and drove in 67 runs with only 89 hits.

The backup catcher, Charlie Moore, is another fine prospect. He hit .292 at Evansville.

Garcia hit .245 with 15 homers and finished second to Baltimore's Al Bumbry in voting for rookie of the year. Coluccio batted only .224, but 44 of his 98 hits went for extra bases.

Don Money, batting under .200 in mid-June, finished at .284 and is one of the league's best fielding third basemen. If second year man Tim Johnson fails to improve, Money may replace him at shortstop with rookie Steve McCartney taking over at third.

John Briggs is expected to play left field, with May in center and Coluccio in right. Ken Berry, .282 at California, is expected to split time with all three in the field and as designated hitter.

Mets have Seaver; not much else

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Tom Seaver will be making about $170,000 this year—and he'll have to earn every cent. It won't be easy pitching for the New York Mets this year.

The defending National League champions have perhaps the strongest pitching staff in the East Division, but batters that won't break down too many fences.

"Any team with a Jerry Grote batting sixth can't be all good," was the wisecrack most heard at last year's World Series, which the Mets lost in seven games to the Oakland A's.

School finishes

second in bowling

Students from the Fayette County Progressive School finished second in a bowling tournament held recently at Airport Bowl, near Wilmington.

Carl Whitaker, school administrator, said students from Highland County won the tournament and the Fayette Progressive School was second as Grant Frazier rolled a 78 and Debbie Grooms had an 84. Clinton County students finished third.

The Mets failed to come up with a big home run hitter in the off-season and therefore must again content themselves with playing a flock of low-run and one-run ballgames in 1974.

Seaver, of course, is king of the hill. Often called baseball's premier pitcher, Seaver was certainly the most consistent for New York last season. He was voted the NL's Cy Young Award pitcher after winning 19 games and leading the league in earned run average with a 2.08 mark.

Jon Matlack, a power-throwing left-hander who won 14 games and carved out a 3.20 earned run average last season, combined with the formidable Seaver to give New York one of the best righty-lefty combinations in baseball.

Jerry Koosman, whose 2.84 ERA placed him in the top 10 last year along with Seaver, and George Stone, a 12-game winner in 1973, are the third and fourth starters—and give the Mets two more southpaws.

Rookie right-hander Craig Swann, veteran Ray Sadecki and Buzz Capra add more depth to the pitching-rich New Yorkers and give them good spot-starting or relief strength.

Tug McGraw, the highest paid and possibly the best relief pitcher in the National League, anchors a strong bullpen crew that also includes Harry Parker, Bob Miller and Bob Apodaca. Rusty Staub, the Mets' right fielder, must stay healthy if the team is to have any offensive kick at all this year. The best all-around hitter on the team, Staub missed 100 games in 1972 because of operation on his right hand and missed several in 1973 because of an assortment of injuries.

In fact, not very many of the Mets were healthy last year. Every regular but third baseman Wayne Garrett was lost for some period or other in 1973 because of injuries.

If the hitting is bad, the defense is not bad. Shortstop Bud Harrelson and second baseman Felix Millan give the Mets a smooth double play combination and Grote is a fine defensive catcher even if not the best hitter.

John Milner, the best home run hitter in the line-up with 23 in '73, is the first baseman. Cleon Jones, a left fielder last season, will be tried in center this year and the left field job is up for

Jump in purses

seen at Lebanon

LEBANON — A jump in the purse schedule has been announced for the Lebanon Raceway which opens its spring meeting Thursday night.

The jump in the purses was announced by Corwin Nixon, general manager, following the signing of a three-year contract with the Ohio Harness Horsemen's Association, Inc.

The Hamilton Racing Association and the Lebanon Trotting Club, sponsors of the two meetings at the Lebanon Raceway, both agreed to the terms which raised the minimum purse to $600 and also jumps other purses proportionately.

The horsemen will share up to 46 1/2 per cent of the track's share of the handle and breakage for the next three years.

The contracts are the first signed by the OHHA with any track in the state this year.

The new contract with the horsemen follows on the heels of a $500,000 remodeling and expansion project at the Warren County oval which gets its 68-night program under way Thursday.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

He Wants Hospital's Records

Both my wife and our teenage daughter were hospitalized during the past year.

I have asked for the records of their cases from their doctors and from the hospital, but I have been refused.

The feeling I get is that nobody wants to release these files to me because they are not technically my property.

How do you feel about this?

Mr. J.H., Ga.

Dear Mr. H.:

I am particularly intrigued by the coincidental timing of your question. At this very moment, this problem has caught the attention of medical legal specialists who are examining the advantages and disadvantages of releasing hospital and doctors' reports to the patient and to his family.

The New England Journal of Medicine, long recognized as one of the most prestigious medical magazines in America, has been publishing articles and letters from doctors, lawyers, and patients about this question.

Dr. Margaret Ann Smith, of the Montreal Children's Hospital, reports that a bill in Canada aims at "giving the patient right to access to his medical records."

She says, "It is too early to know what the overall effect may be."

Dr. Frederick F. Holmes, of the University of Kansas Medical Center, says, "I can report that patients have been the sole custodians of their own medical records in many parts of the world for many years." He believes that the new idea of giving patients a complete copy

Opening lead - nine of diamonds.

The dominant aim of many hands is to tie the defenders into a knot so that they can't free themselves regardless of what they do. For a neat example of how to accomplish this, consider today's hand where West leads a diamond.

Making the slam appears to be an absolutely humdrum affair at the start. But when you win the opening lead in dummy and return a low club, East shows out, discarding a spade, and suddenly the outlook changes drastically. Instead of the 12 or 13 tricks you had expected to make quite easily—against a normal 2-2 or 3-1 club division—the slam is now in danger of going down.

But if you keep your head firmly screwed onto your shoulders, you soon realize that the slam is solidly in the bag. You go up with the ace of clubs and return a low club.

West can't afford to go up with the king—you'd have tricks to burn if he did—so he follows low and you win the club in dummy with the jack.

The rest is easy as pie. You play a diamond to the ace, followed by a low heart to the nine. Win or lose, you are sure of 12 tricks. When it later turns out that West started with three hearts to the queen, you wind up making 13.

As happens so often, the hand had its ups and downs. Everything looked perfectly kosher when dummy first came down, but at trick two the picture got very involved. It looked as though you'd have to concede the queen of clubs to the king and later guess which way to take the two-way heart finesse.

But by staying cool at the crucial juncture, it became possible to shape the play so as to firmly guarantee the slam.

Photography is fun. If you don't think so just you sit in on some of the fun classes when CKFN gets under way starting this week. We start out with ways to make better color slides and how to put them together into better slide shows. You know you can have wonderful slides and end up with a lousy show if they are not presented properly with continuity and appropriate pacing. There are many factors which go to make an exciting slide presentation. We will be having sessions running through the spring season. There is no charge for these classes and if you are interested drop in the shop and find out more about them and the topics covered each week.

While on the subject of good slide show presentations, there are some local lensmen who have some shows that have lots of quality. If you find yourself on the program committee for some organization you might want to consider one of these presentations. For example, Howard Miller has two or three shows that are not only photographically well done, but the shows themselves are artistically arranged. There are others who have recently put together some shows. Dale Wade is doing a show now on the seasons. I haven't seen the show but I have seen some of the slides and they are quite good. I'm anxious to see the finished product. Stu Gossard's shows are always great and cover South America, Europe, and Mexico. Here is real photographic quality. The photographer must not only be able to recognize beauty; he must have the ability to get it on the film. These boys can do that.

School board defers action on Progressive School rental request

The Washington C.H. Board of Education declined to act Monday on a proposal by Superintendent Edwin to rent Sunnyside School to the Fayette Progressive School at a rate of $350 per month.

Some members of the board feel that the rental figure might be too low since, under the proposal, the city would be responsible for upkeep of the building. The cost of building repairs and insurance might be as high or even higher than the income from the rental, they said.

A figure in the neighborhood of $500 per month was mentioned as a more realistic figure.

It was noted that the Progressive School currently is paying about $450 rent per month for present facilities in the Junior High School building but the present figure includes utilities and janitorial service, which would not be provided at Sunnyside. Utilities alone are estimated at $2,000 per year for the building.

It would appear that a rental of $500 per month would not be within the budget of the Progressive School, but the board noted that November would offer the Progressive School an opportunity to seek a levy increase.

Board members Robert Highfield and Fred Domenico will join Nestor in negotiations with representatives of the school to attempt to reach a mutually satisfying arrangement.

BIDS for a 66-passenger school bus were considered by the board members and it was decided to purchase a chassis from Halliday Ford for $5,895 and a body from the Devis Company, Newark, for $4,261. Total cost for the new bus will be slightly over $10,000. Mrs. Nicola Eyre approached the board for approval of the formation of a girls' softball team. Expenses are expected to be less than the amount which was left in girls' sports fund at the close of the basketball season.

The board approved the action, and the girls are likely to play six games this season with local schools. Circleville and Miami Trace are the only SCOL schools which have girls' softball at present.

The board also authorized the athletic department to purchase a cushion for the pole vaulting pit at a cost of $1,602. The huge foam rubber platform can be separated into four sections for transporting and storage and will provide vaulters with a two-foot rubber cushion on which to land. There had been considerable concern expressed at the meager facilities used in recent years.

MRS. VIRGINIA KRIEGER had submitted her resignation which the board accepted. Nestor noted that Mrs. Krieger has served the system for five years as a school aide. The resignation is effective March 22 and allows Mrs. Krieger to aid her husband, Carl, who recently opened Krieger Implement on Ohio 41-N.

Requests from a number of teachers to attend professional meetings were approved by the board, as was a request from a teacher for reimbursement for a graduate course attended at Wright State University.

There were a number of title funds transferred.

Although there was discussion concerning the purchase of a 12-15 passenger bus to be used for small group transportation, board members felt that the usefulness of such a vehicle should be further investigated, and no action was taken.

The board authorized payment of the teachers of courses in the Community Education program at a rate of $4.50 per hour. The money for these salaries will come from the Community Education program's own funds, not school tax money.

Hospital trustees reorganize

Donald P. Woods, a Fayette County real estate broker and developer, was elected president of the Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees during the regular business meeting Monday night.

Woods, 133 W. Circle Ave., who has served on the hospital board since 1968 and as board president in 1970, replaces Jesse Persinger, a Jasper Township farmer.

Milbourne Flee was named first vice president and Mrs. Louise Rodgers was named second vice president. Dr. Thomas J. Hancock, who was reappointed to the board Monday afternoon, was named secretary-treasurer. Other board members are Denzil Leggett and Persinger.

Board members approved the appointment of Mrs. Jean Tracy as director of nursing at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Tracy, nursing service supervisor at the hospital for a number of years, had been serving as acting nursing director for the past two months.

A committee comprised of Dr. Hancock, Leggett, Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, and James Kiger, Fayette County prosecuting attorney, was appointed to study the feasibility of establishing a nursing scholarship fund at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

HOSPITAL STAFF privileges were granted to Dr. Thomas L. Irvin, a dentist associated with Dr. Charles Pfersick in Washington C.H., and Dr. Stephen Weber, of Columbus, for radiology services.

The board also reviewed a proposal for the purchase of new dictating equipment for the hospital and granted approval for Kunz and other personnel to attend the Ohio Hospital Association meeting April 8-11 in Cincinnati.

The administrator's report for February showed 320 admissions, 2,044 in-patient days, an average daily census of 73.0, a per cent of occupancy of 83.90, per cent of occupancy in the medical and surgical divisions of 95.90, an average length of stay of 6.42 days, an average length of stay in the medical and surgical departments of 7.24 days and 946 emergency room visits.

Kunz also said that net actual revenue per patient day this year is $74.16, the budgeted figure was $67.90 and the national average is $104.49. Actual expenses this year per patient day is $74.75, the budgeted figure was $70.34 and $103 is the national average. The expense per admission is $443.27, Kunz said, and $438.17 was budgeted. The national average is $766.76. He said there have been 2.5 full-time employees per occupied bed so far this year.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — John H. Glenn Jr., a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, said Monday that a statewide poll showed him leading his primary opponent, U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum.

Expect no early delivery of report to House panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — It could take weeks for the House Judiciary Committee to learn if it will receive the secret grand jury report on President Nixon's role in Watergate.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica ruled Monday that the report should go to the committee for its impeachment inquiry, but at least one Watergate defense lawyer said he expects to appeal the ruling.

Sirica delayed implementation of his ruling for two days to permit filing of appeals.

That gives attorneys until late Wednesday to file their appeals and also to ask either Sirica or the U.S. Court of Appeals to extend the delay in transmission of the report to the Judiciary Committee.

John J. Wilson, attorney for former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, said Monday "it is our present intention to pursue appellate review."

William G. Hundley, attorney for former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, said he hadn't decided yet whether to appeal the order.

"If we go up, it'll be on the very narrow ground that if there is something in the presentment that reflects on Mitchell we would want that expunged," Hundley said.

At a hearing before Sirica March 6, Wilson had argued that the grand jury lacked the authority to issue such a report and that if it were sent to Congress its contents probably would leak out and possibly prejudice his clients' rights to a fair trial.

However, Sirica noted that "the person on whom the report focuses, the President of the United States, has not objected to its release to the committee."

And, he concluded "delivery to the committee is eminently proper, and indeed, obligatory."

Sirica said the report "draws no accusatory conclusions.... The report is a simple and straightforward compilation of information gathered by the grand jury, and no more."

Vice President Gerald R. Ford told reporters Monday night that he agreed with Sirica's decision.

DONALD P. WOODS

Dr. Hancock reappointed

Dr. Thomas J. Hancock, CCC Highway-E, Monday afternoon was reappointed by a five-member panel to serve another six-year term on the Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees.

Dr. Hancock, a Washington C.H. surgeon who maintains his office in the Medical Arts building, 616 Willard St., along with Dr. Byers W. Shaw, was the first member of the hospital's staff of physicians to become a trustee when he was first appointed to the board six years ago.

He was first appointed to the board in February, 1968, after Miss Frances White had asked not to be considered for reappointment. Dr. Hancock rejoins Donald P. Woods, board president, Milbourne Flee, Mrs. Louise Rodgers, Denzil Leggett and Jesse Persinger on the board.

The reappointment of Dr. Hancock to the hospital board came during the Monday afternoon session of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners. The committee making the reappointment was comprised of County Commissioners J. Herbert Perrill, Robert J. Mace and Ray D. Warner, along with Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman and Probate-Juvenile Judge Rollo M. Marchant.

The vote was 4-1, with Mace dissenting.

In other matters, the commissioners authorized Mrs. Lorie M. Armbrust, county recorder, to attend an Ohio Committee of County Officials meeting Thursday in Columbus, and O.M. Riegel, county welfare director, to attend a meeting Wednesday in Columbus and another meeting Thursday in Lebanon.

Commissioners held their annual inspection tour of the Fayette County Children's Home Monday afternoon. The board found the facility to be satisfactory and noted a few minor repairs.

Trash blaze brings alarm to firemen

An unattended trash fire was reported to Washington C.H. firemen at 11:17 a.m. Monday in the 700 block of Paint Street.

Firemen doused the pile of burning trash, consisting of an old stump and left-over house construction materials, with water. There was no damage.

Variance request on board agenda

Only one variance request will be considered by the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals at its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

H. Alvin Dorn, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., has submitted an application for a variance to construct a two-family residence on a lot containing less than 6,000 square feet.

The lot is located on Gibbs Avenue.

Testimony heard in burglary trial

A jury of seven women and five men began hearing testimony for the second straight day Tuesday in Fayette County Common Pleas Court concerning a major burglary at a downtown Washington C.H. store.

The jurors entered the court room shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday to hear more testimony in the trial of two Kettering brothers who were captured by a Washington C.H. police officer following a burglary at Craig's Department Store, 131 E. Court St., on Jan. 8.

David D. Caraway, 29, and Larry S. Caraway, 28, both of Kettering, are charged on numerous counts in connection with the store burglary in which more than $2,000 worth of merchandise was stolen. Breaking and entering and grand larceny are among the charges lodged against the two defendants.

The burglary trial opened Monday afternoon in Common Pleas Court. Prospective jurors were screened during the morning and the 12-member panel and two alternates were selected at 12:10 p.m. before being excused for lunch by Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, who is presiding over the case.

TESTIMONY was started at 1:45 p.m. and included the presentation of 118 labeled items of merchandise stolen in the burglary. Police Specialist Larry Hott made the presentation. The jury was dismissed at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Merrill Kaufman, owner of Craig's Department Store, and Ray Downing, store manager, were scheduled to appear for testimony during Tuesday's court session.

The two burglary defendants were arrested after Hott became suspicious of the car, driven by David Caraway. Acting Municipal Court Judge John P. Case issued a search warrant after Hott saw clothing in the rear seat of the car.

While Hott was checking the two suspects, Police Sgt. Luther Anderson discovered a side window broken in the department store.

The Caraway brothers are being defended by Dennis Ulrich, who was appointed by the court. The prosecution's case is being presented by James Kiger, county prosecuting attorney, and assistant prosecutor John H. Rossmann.

Harlan Fengler out as steward of '500' race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The chief steward for the past 16 years at the Indianapolis 500 auto race classic will be replaced this year, Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials announced today.

A spokesman for the speedway said Thomas W. Binford of Indianapolis has accepted the appointment to succeed Harlan Fengler of Dayton, Ohio, as chief steward for the 58th annual running of the race.

Binford is president of the Automobile Competition Committee of the U.S.

Rumors about Fengler's possible ouster have circulated throughout United States Auto Club circles for several months.

Kidnaped woman free; man held

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Eunice Kronholm, reunited with her husband 3½ days after she was kidnaped, remains in seclusion. Her family says she will tell newsmen on Wednesday the details of her abduction.

Meanwhile, the FBI said James William Johnson, 27, Lakeville, Minn., would be arraigned today before U.S. Magistrate J. Earl Cudd in connection with the kidnaping.

There was no word whether any of the $200,000 ransom paid by Gunnar Kronholm for his wife's release had been recovered.

Married students protest graduation exercise policy

Two senior students from Washington Senior High School attended Monday's meeting of the City Board of Education and questioned the board concerning its policy toward graduation of married students.

Mrs. Wayne (Debbie Bell) Roberts and Mrs. Tim (Zella Conley) Merritt are both seniors who expect to graduate in June, and both are strongly opposed to school policy which prohibits them from taking part in the commencement ceremonies.

After Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor reviewed the topic, James Wilson, board president, told the girls that the board would take the matter under advisement.

Nestor said that since the married students have assumed an adult role in society, the school attempts to treat them as adults. "You are not required to bring notes from your parents if you are not in school," he said, "and if you have study halls at the end of the day, you can be excused from attending," he said.

Nestor continued and said that the girls would have to decide whether they wanted to be treated as adults or as children.

Mrs. Roberts replied that she had attended school for 12 years like everyone else.

"If we (married students) have enough interest in school to get up each morning, without our mothers pushing us out the door, and get to school, we should be allowed to walk across that stage and receive our diploma like everyone else," she said.

No discussion of the issue followed the girls' departure.

First Community Education turnout tops expectations

An estimated 100 persons attended the first session of the Community Education program Monday night at the Junior High School building.

Director Hank Shaffer said that the turnout was larger than expected, but there were no problems. George Robinson, who had expected no more than 25 persons in his class in genealogy, was greeted by 30 persons and had to make extra copies of a chart he had mimeographed.

Only two classes were scheduled Monday. Besides the 30 persons interested in genealogy, 17 attended a class in quilting. The remainder of those in attendance were there to use the gymnasium facilities. The gym will be open Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Police check money theft

Money was taken from a Washington C.H. woman's home while she was away and an Elm Street man has been charged with petty theft and disorderly by intoxication, city police reported.

Nadine Radcliff, 724 Peabody Ave., returned to her home at 8 p.m. Sunday, after being gone over the weekend, to find money missing from two children's banks and a coffee can, along with a diamond ring and a woman's gold wedding band. The stolen merchandise was valued at $300.

City police reported a window in the kitchen was discovered partially open. Ptl. Mike Stritenberger is continuing his investigation of the incident.

A Washington C.H. man, who had been previously banned from Crissinger's Tasty Shop, 201 S. Main St., because of disorderly conduct, asked one of the employees if he could use the restroom at 9:47 p.m. Monday.

When given permission, Rick Smith, 23, of 210½ W. Elm St., entered the store and started a fight with one of the patrons and then grabbed a bottle of screwdriver from a cooler and fled from restaurant.

City police were called in on the incident and arrested Smith for disorderly conduct by intoxication and petty larceny. Smith is presently lodged in city jail in lieu of $300 bond. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Smith today in Municipal Court.
